In accordance with Transpower's Green Financing Framework dated April 2022 (as amended from time to time) (Green Financing Framework), Transpower intends to notionally allocate an amount equal to the net proceeds of the Retail Green Bonds to finance or refinance, in whole or in part, new or existing electrical grid related assets and projects that meet the eligibility criteria set out in the Green Financing Framework (Eligible Green Assets). In accordance with the Green Financing Framework, Transpower: - intends to maintain a total investment exposure to Eligible Green Assets that is at least equal to the aggregate net proceeds of all its outstanding green financing instruments (including the Retail Green Bonds issued under this offer); and - maintains a register that outlines (among other things) the allocation of net proceeds from green financing instruments (including the Retail Green Bonds issued under this offer) to Eligible Green Assets, which is monitored by its Green Financing Committee and reported annually. As part of this programmatic certification, Transpower will obtain post-issuance independent verification on an annual basis (following Transpower's financial year end) of all green financing instruments issued under the Green Financing Framework (including the Retail Green Bonds issued under this offer). In accordance with this, DNV Business Assurance Australia Pty. Ltd (DNV) last provided the CBS Verification Opinion for Transpower's green financing instruments as at 30 June 2024.

Prior to Transpower's initial issuance of green bonds, Ernst & Young Limited (EY) provided a pre-issuance limited assurance report dated 26 April 2022 to Transpower on the alignment of the Green Financing Framework, Eligible Green Assets and its green financing instruments to the Climate Bonds Standard.
