

15 November 2022 (anonymous) – Prudent discount manual- previous version?

Question:

It seems like the new TPM Guidelines for a PDA are very similar to the existing Code regarding PDAs. I'm wondering if there has been an equivalent 'manual' that guided people that applied for a PDA in the past under the current TPM?

Response:

There has not previously been a prudent discount practice manual. However, there are some prudent discount application requirements in Appendix C of the current TPM. The application requirements have been taken out of the new TPM so they can be changed more easily, if required. They are part of the proposed prudent discount practice manual.
